

On the 18th of September, the Cutter MUNRO arrived on scene and dispatched a boat crew and Damage Control Party to see what might be done. After two days of pumping and attempting to tow her, the TRIAD was deemed unsalvageable by both the Commanding Officer of the MUNRO and the Captain of the TRIAD. On the morning of the 19th she was set adrift.