

DEDICATION

FROM the day the first watch was set until the last man walked down the gangway with his gear over his shoulder, there was one man who more than all others was responsible for the ADMIRAL CAPP'S successful accomplishment of every mission assigned to her. His professional skill and demonstrated good judgment gave us confidence in times of trial, his soft spoken and considerate manner earned our respect and devotion. There is no more fitting person to whom this book could have been dedicated to than "The Old Man", Captain Niels S. Haugen.