

3-3-44
Even now the flag designating the second wave was at the masthead without ceremony it dipped and the second wave was on its way in.
A voice on the two-way talker complained of a slight delay. An order crackled from the control skippers lips and the third wave rolled into line.
A moment later the beachmaster shouted, "First wave's on." The control boat skipper checked his watch with the schedule and grinned with satisfaction.

Leyte - - 3 - -

Even now the flag designating the second wave was at the masthead.

Without ceremony it dipped and the second wave was on its way in.

A voice on the two-way talker complained of a slight delay. An order crackled from the control skippers lips and the third wave rolled into line.

A moment later the beachmaster shouted, "First wave's on." The control boat skipper checked his watch with the schedule and grinned with satisfaction.