

Rough weather in the South China Sea

Preparing for gun fire support condition II

USCGC Dallas (WHEC 716)

Founded in 1790 for the protection of our coasts and help to those in danger on the high seas, the Coast Guard through the years has performed many duties: scientific research, search and rescue, law enforcement and military readiness. Semper Paratus, always prepared, has been our motto and we have always upheld this motto. Having been in Viet Nam, we have been called upon to do many jobs and are proud to say that the Dallas has done her share in upholding the motto "Semper Paratus."
