

McMurdo Closes Shutters:

WOLF DENC Lt. David W. Carham scratches a hasty signature to a memo in his office then hurries outside (left) to check bay ice for cracks. Constant vigilance during the long winter night paid off when the skytrains arrived.

WINTER chores ranged all the way from babying the 100 kw power and light generator, preparing air-drop cargo for the pole come summer, to weighing in the residents of Schloss von Duglitz. (Calorie counters down there?)

LEISURE time was really appreciated here, too. Hans contacts Stateside, crac-new periodicals, and homemade variety shows broke up the backbreaking grind into more bearable periods. And then there were always movies.

