

DRESS REHEARSAL at Lakehurst, N. J. found the air arm working out right up to the last minute of departure. Upper, two stages of jump: rescue jump team dives out door of B4D to hit the silk, float down, land, repack the chute, do it all over again. Below, men of VX-6 line up for final inspection by Marine Captain Rayburn A. Hudman, their jump master. Carr. Hudman lost his life at McMurdo two months later in the crash of the incoming Neptune.

