

Then the Massive Airlift Began

ANOTHER first for the Air Force: the first Air Force crew to fly over the South Pole, General McCarty and Colonel Crosswell at center of group (top). "Fresh-air taxi" takes flies to poles (right); (far right) Colonel Ellen and Captain Casity (airdrop officer) confer. Another look (below) at 7-ton tractor going down via 4 100-foot chutes to land safely.
