

THE LAST OF THE SECOND

William D. Snyder -- Here is Mr. Sleep! He seems to sleep more - especially under bunks - than anyone else in the Second. Bill graduated from Shippensburg State College, Penna. with a degree in Social Science and hopes to get stationed in the same area upon graduation. When we think of Snyder, we'll remember the 50 demos for shoes!

Daniel E. Struck -- Dan is a familiar sight around the Second. It seems like you always hear his yelling "Sound off, Sherm." He attended the Maine Maritime Academy and majored in Nautical Science. Dan hopes to put this training to use in his choice of duty: MIO, New York.

Bertram "B" Townsend -- "Is there a doctor in the house?" Why sure, we have Bert! This is a familiar sound to Bert's ears, when he can hear sounds at all from his complaining most of the time. Bert actually is no doctor, but he has received medical training in the Guard and is rated as a Corpsman. He attended California State Polytechnic College, and was a member of the Honor Platoon. Bert has requested a Bouy Tender on the West Coast for his duty station.

Billy R. Warren -- When individuals fall out for competitive drill, Bill is usually there to do us proud. In addition to being proficient in the manual of arms, Bill was our first Platoon Guide. Bill has been a yeoman in the Guard for 5 years and is interested in basketball, football, baseball, and wrestling. Bill is going on to Flight Training at Pensacola after graduation from OCS.

John E. Williams -- John is from the wild, north country where he attended the University of Maine and majored in Agricultural Science. John is interested in hunting and stock car racing. He has requested duty aboard the USCGC CONSLIP, out of Portland, Maine.

Alan J. Wonsowski -- Al graduated from Seton Hall University and majored in Business Administration. Upon graduation from OCS he wants to go to a WPC in the 3rd. Listed high on his list of hobbies are boating, fishing, bowling and football.
