

FOURTH PLATOON

WAYNE J. BAGLIN, La Crescenta, California

Wayne graduated from San Fernando Valley State with a major in Political Science. Is it true, Wayne, that bald headed men have more sex appeal? He requested duty in any bar on Bourbon Street.

CHRISTOPHER BATTISTA, Bryn Mawr, Penna.

Chris attended the University of Pennsylvania majoring in Industrial Management. Having the same service number as Bill Reedhead, he is hoping to have a service number of his own some day. He put in for the Yard at Curtis Bay.

LARRY K. CARR, Millbrae, California

Larry attended the California Maritime Academy for three years before going to sea with American Export Lines as a "snipe". He's enjoying his honeymoon at R. T. C., hoping to be assigned to Maritime Bar Inspection in New York.

ROBERT C. CLASBY --Fairbanks, Alaska

Bob graduated from the University of Alaska. A klotch-clutcher by choice, he can't make up his mind between Eskimo women or smoked salmon. He wants to find out if the ice is really colder in Antartica.

JACK L. CONERLY, Laurel, Mississippi

Jack saw prior service with the Maritime Corp before enlisting in the Coast Guard. His activities at R. T. C. included Platoon Leader and Restracen liason officer to the Jefferson Davis campaign fund. He hopes to fly the stars and bars on a C-130.

RICHARD J. DIEN, Bay Shore, New York

Dick attended the University of Miami majoring in Philosophy. He aspires to write CG-69, a surfing manual for senior officers. Hopes to ride the wild surf in the Bay of Tonkin. Can an 82 footer really pull six skiers?

HARRY T. FISHER, Candor, North Carolina

Harry majored in Forestry at North Carolina State. He was the Fourth Platoon's nominee for the Gomer Pyle Award to be given by Mr. Beachum, but because he's both quiet and athletic, he also reminds us of Clark Kent. He hopes to be assigned to a bouy tender off Cape Hatteras.

PAUL A. FROEHLER, Floral Park, New York

This basketball fan graduated from Niagra College majoring in History and Philosophy. Paul's score on the military bearing aptitude test was so low as to qualify him for the Academy. Because the Coast Guard does not supply dramamine, he has graciously declined orders to report to Ocean Station Echo in favor of shore duty in Hawaii.
