

MARTIN JOHN HARRIS Martin and his wife Beth Anne (Bag) are from Lufkin, Texas. He has a B.S. in Zoology from Stephen F. Austin State College and was nearly finished with a masters in marine invertebrate zoology at Mississippi State University when he came to O.C.S. A pulled muscle gave Martin the dubious distinction of being the only Platoon Commander who failed to carry out drill competition. He has been assigned to the WLM Fir out of Seattle.

RICHARD K. HUBBARD Dick graduated from the University of Miami with an A.B. degree in Geography. He's had a busy time at O.C.S. with all his platoon and company jobs. Hopefully he'll take a rest before reporting aboard the W.B. Sundew out of Charlevoix, Mich.

JOHNNIE L. JOHNSON Johnnie is from Akron, Ohio and received a B.S. in Forest Science from Utah State University. His first assignment will be the WLB Sedge out of Cordova, Alaska (he actually requested it). Johnnie prefers casual attire, sans guard belt, for guard mount inspections.

KENNETH G. KRUPA Ken is from the Bronx with a B.A. in Sociology from Fordham University. Super Krooper (or Kroops) will be remembered as the only O.C. in history to march with his arms out of step. He has been assigned duty on the new WHEC Morgenthau out of New York City.

THOMAS M. MADDOCK Maddog comes from San Francisco. His hopes to return home have been realized with his first duty assignment: Captain of the Port in the City by the Bay. One of his pastimes is lovingly shining his shoes with a most unique pair of nylons.

ROBERT E. MANNING Bob received a B.S. in Biology from Washington College. He and his wife Martha are originally from Queenstown, Mass. He received one of the more demanding billets: Coast Guard Auxiliary, San Francisco—Don't get a stiff elbow, Bob.
