

THOMAS T. STALLKAMP As the leader of B-3's crack colors crew, Stallie impressed everyone with his cool composure under duress. Tom is from Miami of Ohio and is looking forward to his billet in reserve administration at St. Louis.

THEODORE W. SUTHERLAND Ted spent most of his free time combing his naturally curly hair, gathering no demos and paying for car wrecks in New York. An experienced architect, he'll be designing buildings for the Guard while stationed in San Francisco.

JAMES P. THOMPSON The platoon vampire was often seen stalking the passageways at night, gathering his daily pint of whole, red blood. Phelps will take this curious habit to Miami, where he will blend in with the sunburned tourists as an undercover investigator.

HAROLD F. WAGNER The "old man" of Bravo 3 is a confirmed dirty snipe. Harold will take his greasy feet into the bowels of the CHINCOTEAGUE, where his bodily vigor will be renewed by the atmosphere of exhaust fumes.

NEIL W. WILEY Our resident San Francisco State dissident is a product of the California sun and surf. Neal will be returning home to a Port Security billet in Concord.
