

MCMURDO

Originally founded by Rear Admiral ROBERT C. BYRD in 1929, MCMURDO was used then and now by American scientists as a base camp from which exploration into the frozen continent begins. Numerous hardships faced the hardy men who struggled to establish this base station. Through their efforts and undying perseverance, MCMURDO has grown into the thriving scientific base we see Today.

