

SWIM CALL

"OK who's first?"

Shark watch

Cosmos' Mr. December

"Where's my towel?"

Ron Fogan in perfect form

"Head first Rudy!"

Crossing the Equator can be a warm event for even the coolest heads. A welcome relief is swim call. The water was a cool 80 degrees. With slight hesitation crewmembers plunge in, at times demonstrating their diving skills. This continued until someone spots a fin cutting through the water, Shark! Hands scurry for the ladder and chills run up spines, the Gunner's Mate positions himself and hearts stop, it's just a dolphin being playful, wow what a relief!
