

The GORDON was designed to meet the rigid requirements of the U. S. Navy. She does two important jobs. First: She transports the maximum number of able-bodied men under the best possible living conditions in the shortest period of time to the fighting fronts.

