

And each realizes that soon the war will be very real—that danger will be imminent—that between him and the battlefield lies a wide and rolling sea. “Wonder if I’m gonna get seasick?” Stomachs tighten. Voices are of a higher pitch than usual.

