

Then too, there are always the natural hazards—storms, pea-soup fogs and mountainous seas, that make captains of ships traveling in convoy, get old before their time.

