

Prins Christian Sund

Prins Christian Sund is a narrow but deep passage through the southern tip of Greenland. It is 56 miles long and 400 yards wide at its narrowest. The mountains along the shore rise to nearly 7,000 feet in places.

It was like driving a ship through the mountains.