

The Transit Home

The transit home was long but marked by many exciting moments: the weather and seas along the South American coast could not have been nicer, the sunsets were spectacular, a lot of money changed hands between the casinos of Chile, Mexico and our own casino night, the civilians that we carried back from the ice got involved with the workings of the ship, a second line crossing initiation was held for the new boots and the civilians, a swim call at the equator, a rendezvous with CGC SHERMAN, the XO got orders, several crew members had dependents aboard.

EMCM Terry Yanette was on the black jack table in the chief's mess on casino night.

Greg Meader was the high roller on the craps table and won a dinner for two at the Space Needle.
