

Bottom left: a mother Weddell Seal and pup on the ice. The mother thinks that close enough and gives a show of teeth. Top left: A Killer Whale sticks his head up thru the ice looking for seals. Top right: The Emperor Penguins pose for a picture in front of McMurdo. Middle right: The Adelies were almost always the first to greet visitors to Antarctica, and always in formal attire. Bottom middle: The Skua Gulls, the scavengers of the Antarctic fight over a left over scrap from the ship. Bottom right: The Minke Whales have decided they should take a look at that strange thing on the ice.