

Seattle. The purposes are to earn students a high school diploma, prepare them for upcoming college careers, and aid them in SWE. It is a three month program with teachers coming from the college graduates on board. As such, it fit very well into our three month deployment.

(b) We found that the people who will lose interest can be spotted by how they set their goals and by past performance. If they quit tenth grade and now say they are willing to earn the diploma in three months, talk them out of it. Allow only one or two courses to be taken, and get them started first. The completion rate far outstrips USAFI at its best, and the program should be encouraged.
