

ENGINEERING

Led by Lt. Derrill Kramer, the Engineering Officer, and LTJG Frederick Farner, his assistant, it is the Engineers who are charged with the responsibility of running the ship below decks and keeping their machinery in the highest degree of operating performance. Their sometimes thankless job consists of standing watches in the hot and noisy engine room and conducting routine preventive maintenance. "E" Division is made up of Boiler Tenders, Machinist's Mates, Damage Controlmen, and Firemen.

MAIN PROPULSION

The Main Propulsion Gang, above, who stand the bulk of the long hours of watch, are, standing: MMC John Terrell, MM1 Ronald Barth, MM2 Roger Maxwell, MM3 Dale Darow, MM3 James Romph, MM3 Robert Rainey, and MMC Jimmy McNew. Kneeling: FA David Schimel, FA Michael O'Day, MM3 Stephen Barton, FA Daniel Walker, and FA Gregory April.
