

QUEBEC, CANADA

Quebec city was a welcome stop. It was good to put our feet down in North America after being away for so long. The helos had departed earlier and we all had a decent nights sleep. The next day it was underway for Montreal and drydock.

la promenade des Remparts